

About the cover: Inspired by the work of Pard Morrison's "Fall Line"

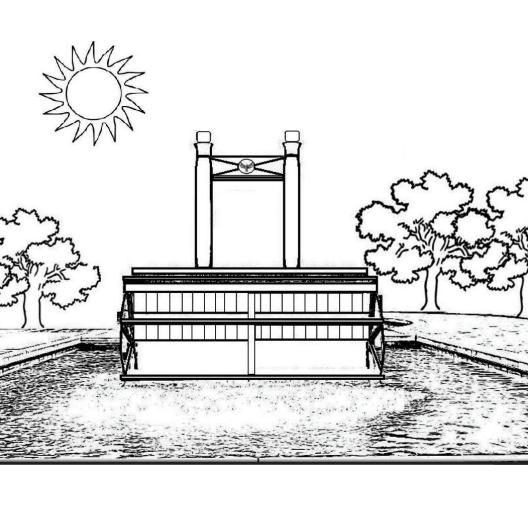

Pard Morrison is a Colorado based artist. Morrison created "Fall Line" - a colorful six-piece work fabricated out of 3/16th inch aluminum sheets that were all welded together and baked in industrial sized ovens with enameled color. Each of the six sculpture elements vary in scale, height and chromatic complexity, but each are unified by a single horizontal blue band that represents the flow of water over the fall line and pays homage to the Chattahoochee River. "Fall Line" is located in front of the CSU Frank Brown Hall on 12th Street and spans through the glass lobby building out into the southern courtyard.
